

FAQ (Frequently asked questions)

-----Added on May 28 -----

1. If a person has got 80 % in physics, chemistry & maths in CBSE but has got more than 10000 rank in AIEEE will he be eligible for admission in IITD ?

Yes, the eligibility criteria is PCM \geq 80%.

2. AIEEE results are not out can I apply?

If your board result has been declared and you satisfy the eligibility criteria then you can apply. If board results are not declared, you can apply; however at the time of admission you should produce 12th Class result and that you satisfy the eligibility criteria. You can also wait – last date is June 8.

3. What if failed to note down the application number due to the disconnection of internet, power failure, etc.?

The application number will be in the email sent to you. If you don't get the email, it is best to fill the form again.

4. I entered my name as P Prince Garg but it is appearing as P Garg in the form?

The middle name is not printed on the form, but it is recorded. So, don't worry.

5. It is written that the photo should be attested but by whom (Gazetted officer or self attested)?

Self attested. At admission time, other forms of photo ID will be required.

6. Column of Nationality is not appearing in the web page while it is appearing after taking the print out.?

It is getting printed as it was a field in the form in trial versions. It is being fixed.

7. Some of the students have only single name due to which the form is not appearing without the last name.?

Last name has now been made an optional field.

8. Any photocopy of the certificate needs to be attested along with the application form or not.?

No certificates need to be sent – they will be checked at admission time.

9. If I have filled wrong information by mistake (for example DOB) what to do?

(i) Fill another form and send that one in, or (ii) Make correction on the printout, sign it, and send it – we will change it in the records.

10. It was rejecting the form even though I have more than 80% in PCM, but have less than 80% in total?

The problem has been resolved

11. I have JEE counseling on 14th. Can anything be done?

We have discussed this with IIT Delhi JEE office. They advise that such students should contact the JEE office, and arrangements will be made for them in which their parents can come on 14th morning to make the fee payment etc, and the student can then come at 1 pm (IIITD's test will finish by 12).

12. Why is the eligibility criteria rather high in PCM marks?

IIITD's admission test is not on physics, chem, or maths, like other Engg tests are, and we rely on class XII education for these subjects. To ensure that students have the necessary background in these subjects, the eligibility criteria has been kept at this level in these subjects. Another reason is that IIITD has only 60 seats, and it is necessary to restrict the number of applicants to a reasonable number. The management also felt that it is not proper to ask a large number of students to sit in an admission test when there are only a few seats (some other places do this as they treat admissions as a source of income.)

13. Is there a syllabus or sample questions?

As it is aptitude test, as mentioned in the brochure, there is no syllabus. Some sample questions will be posted in a day or so.
